EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

West Valley City has an opportunity to become known for something no other city can authentically claim: The Food Capital of the World.

While many cities compete to be everything to everyone, the strongest brands own a single, memorable idea. This strategy positions West Valley City as the epicenter where culture, community, and cuisine come together to create an identity that is authentic and unmistakable.

This is a citywide brand strategy that aligns communications, economic development, tourism, events, and community engagement around one clear vision. Every campaign, partnership, and story should reinforce the same message: the world already lives here.

West Valley City can own a single memorable idea: The Food Capital of the World.

WHY THIS PLAN MATTERS

People remember one thing about successful brands. Cities should be no different.

Rather than promoting dozens of unrelated messages, this strategy focuses resources on a single positioning that supports tourism, business attraction, resident pride, and economic development.

The brand should become a practical organizing system for City communications, events, partnerships, economic development, and community storytelling.

The Core Brand Logic

A focused brand helps every department tell the same story in different ways.

Food

Culture

Community

Destination

CURRENT BRAND ASSESSMENT

West Valley City already has many of the ingredients required for a distinctive regional brand. The opportunity is to connect those strengths under one memorable position.

Strengths

Challenges

Weak statewide brand identity, competition from neighboring cities, and limited awareness of restaurant diversity.

Opportunity

Become synonymous with international food and community pride.

Strategic Need

Move from many disconnected messages to one public story that residents, businesses, partners, and visitors can repeat.

STRATEGIC PILLARS

3-5 YEAR MARKETING & BRAND STRATEGY

1

Own Food

Create weekly restaurant features, chef stories, a Restaurant Passport, interactive food map, Food Friday, awards, creator partnerships, and seasonal campaigns.

2

Build Community Pride

Expand WVC IS ME through merchandise, resident storytelling, neighborhood activations, volunteerism, youth engagement, and signature events.

3

Drive Economic Development

Support restaurant recruitment, culinary entrepreneurs, business retention, corridor activation, and partnerships with chambers and tourism organizations.

4

Become a Destination

Develop itineraries, influencer trips, regional advertising, media outreach, food festivals, and travel content that attracts visitors.

TARGET AUDIENCES

The brand should speak to the people who already make West Valley City strong and the audiences who can help grow its reputation.

Residents	Regional visitors	Food enthusiasts
Restaurant owners	Entrepreneurs	Developers
Media	Content creators	Prospective residents

A successful rollout should give each audience a clear reason to participate: pride, discovery, business opportunity, investment confidence, or a better story to share.

MARKETING STRATEGY

The marketing strategy should connect owned, earned, paid, partner, and experiential channels so every touchpoint reinforces the same brand.

Channel Mix

- Owned Media: social channels, website, and newsletters.
- Earned Media: local and national food stories.
- Paid Media: regional campaigns around signature events.
- Partnerships: restaurants, influencers, schools, tourism, and chambers.

GOVERNANCE & DEPARTMENT ROLES

Marketing leads the brand, but every department reinforces it.

Parks, Library, Police, Fire, Economic Development, Public Works, Mayor, and Council should align projects and messaging with the city's core positioning.

Operating Principle

- Use the brand platform to guide campaign planning and public-facing language.
- Connect department projects to food, culture, community pride, or destination value where appropriate.
- Review major events and campaigns against the core message: The world already lives here.

The brand works when it becomes a shared operating system, not a marketing-only campaign.
